

Fixed-geometry path scans; monotonic paths report endpoint energy differences, not activation barriers

